

VELDIS, S.A.

QUALITY, FOOD SAFETY AND ENVIRONMENTAL RESPECT POLICY

REV.: 6

The company VELDIS, S.A. is dedicated since 1984 to the import, distribution and commercialization of food products and beverages on a national level; since its inception, the Quality, product Safety and respect for the Environment have always been one of their top priorities, both in the selection of their products, as in the service offered, not only as a result of the demand from their customers, but also as a mark of its own identity.

It is therefore that, along with the needs of the market, VELDIS is certified under the requirements of the norm IFS Logistics.

The Management of VELDIS establishes as a priority to provide services that meet the needs of clients and promote the continuous improvement by planning our activities so as the delivery of safe products is guaranteed.

For this purpose, the following principles are taken into account:

- Comply and enforce the legal, regulatory requirements and other requirements that apply to our activities, either internal or expressed by our customers.
- Apply the continuous improvement to exceed the level of quality and security of our products and services.
- Raise awareness, inform and train the staff of the company on the aspects related to the quality of our products and of our activities.
- Promote internal and external communication with criteria of transparency.
- Establish and maintain a Culture of Quality and Food Safety.
- Sustainably use natural resources and reducing the consumption of raw materials, as well as the use of more environmentally friendly products, as far as possible.
- Minimize the generation of waste and manage it trying to recover and recycle instead of eliminate, whenever possible.

Maintaining this level of quality and respect for the environment involves the commitment and collaboration of all the people who work in VELDIS, so that the quality of our products and services, as well as our environmental performance, is the reason of our customers purchasing.

The Management is committed to periodically review and update this policy and it will serve as a reference for the establishment and revision of quality and food safety objectives and goals.
